

Vidya Vikas Coordinator in Focus

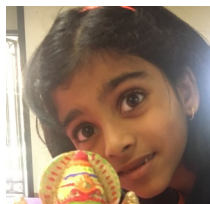

Manoj Chopra is a devotee and a volunteer at DFW Hindu Temple. He is the Coordinator of Vidya Vikas since January 2019. Manoj has been actively involved with Vidya Vikas for more than ten years in various capacities including religion and Hindi language teacher. He is passionate about creating an engaging, immersive learning environment for language, religion, and cultural heritage. He enjoys interacting with students, parents, and teachers to continually look for innovative ways to collaborate and create a positive environment for the learners. Manoj's wife Deepa also teaches at VV, and both their children (Soumil and Akshee) have attended VV classes and have also taught the Hindi language during summers. Manoj holds a Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering and works as a management executive in the field of pricing and revenue management. Manoj has also been serving as a member of the executive committee and is currently serving as the secretary at DFW Hindu Temple.

Language Teacher in Focus

Sathya Jeevanandam has been volunteering in Vidya Vikas Tamil School as a Tamil teacher for about 6 yrs. She is really happy and honored to work every Sunday in Vidya Vikas Tamil School. She comes to Vidya Vikas mainly for kids to learn the values of our Religion and to have a wide feel our culture. Her husband also volunteers in the Vidya Vikas Tamil School and also as a volunteer coordinator. Her daughter and son attended the Tamil class and Religion class. Her daughter is in college now. Her son is continuing in Religion and SAT classes now. Sathya works as Procurement Analyst in SNG Dialysis. My hobbies are cooking and gardening.

Student in Focus
